Hi moon hope you are doing good,

Do you also sometimes lose your mood?

We search for peace and silently talk to you,

But do you get some free time to look into?

We here deal with many fights,

But can you own me from you some light so that I can too shine?

You are all time surrounded by shining and twinkling stars,

But can you just gift me one so that I also become member of your family though I am too far?

2.2. Tiny beautiful ones!

Introduction: This tiny poetry says we people find happiness in tiny moments although we run behind big achievements.

Tiny stars,

That seems to be so far,

Waiting and staring towards the sky at night to make wish from shooting star.

The smell of tiny rose,

Those colleges' tiny notes,

The essence of tiny rain drop,

The wonderful smell of sand after that tiny rain drops.

Tiny smiles,

Beautiful lies,

Feels to fly high!

Where it has been felt like ever before.

How madly it used to wonder before for everything,

Which don't find its own path now correctly?

I am in era where asking god can I get my old soul back,

So that I can rest it and begin with goals like whole again.

Oh gods make me come and again let me feel alive,
So that I can become philanthropist to save the world
from crimes.
There are innocent hopes in my heart which hopes to get fulfill in depth,
Oh god can I please get my old soul back?
